Pages 17-22

Draw cards for the bingo caller to hold up

*Note: There is a yellow leaf, a tree with yellow leaves, and a red leaf. There is a “big” and a “little” turkey.

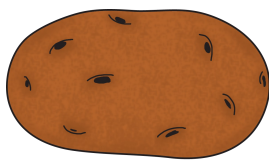

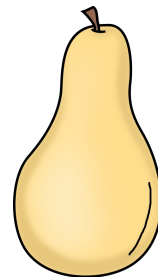

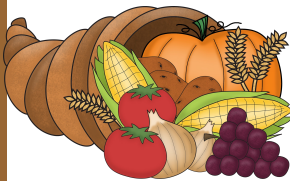

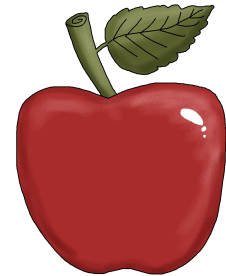

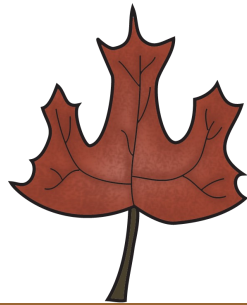

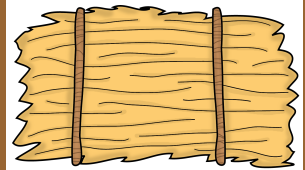

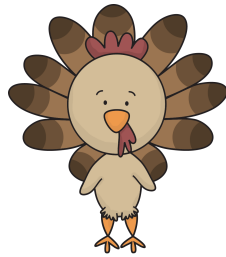

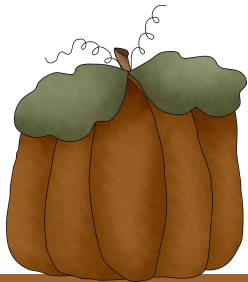

Page 23 Bingo covers (acorns) make many copies of this page, 1 per player and a few extras as paper covers tend to drop of the floor. The acorn cover pages could be printed in black and white as they are all the same.

DIRECTIONS:

1. Pass out game boards and covers.
2. As the bingo caller calls the pictures, they could be placed in a pocket chart for everyone to see.
3. Children tend to talk a lot during bingo, so tell them you will only say each thing twice and they need to listen.
3. If a child has bingo, he or she needs to stand or raise a hand.
4. For younger children, an adult helper could check to see if the child won.
5. Play different ways: a row horizontal or diagonal, 4 corners, There are only 16 squares on the board so this game could be played until blackout several times.
6. When the children are getting restless, do not remove covers and play for black out so the rest of the children can win.
7. This is a great game for a buddy classroom to play with your class.
